

CREATION OF A COMMUNITY HOUSE IN THE VILLAGE OF NONG KHIAW

Founded in 2018, the non-profit organization NK SEEDS offers free daily English classes for children and adults in Nong Khiaw and the surrounding area (Nk English School).

Beside the English learning, we wish to go further and propose a new alternative educational space. The project "Ban Hian", which means "the village of learning" in Lao, will aim to contribute to the personal development of the children through the discovery of new activities, to develop their creativity, their skills, and to promote intercultural exchanges.

These educational, recreational and cultural activities, offered during extracurricular time, will also help strengthen social ties. For example, there will be tale reading sessions, Lao literature classes and traditional games, but also singing, music, painting, handicraft, photography, ecology awareness...

In addition, every Saturday afternoon, a discovery activity will be proposed by the international volunteers of NK SEEDS, thus promoting cultural exchanges.

We also wish to set up a computer room so that the older children/adolescents as well as adults can find resources to do their homework, for research work or office training...
